

PERJURED LAWYER BEFORE THE COURT

ONE OF HOLMES' LAWYERS IN TROUBLE.

William A. Shoemaker Charged with Subordination of Perjury and Held in $1,500 Bail—Walks Into a Trap Laid by District Attorney Graham To Catch Him—Caused a Sensation

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—William A. Shoemaker, the young attorney, whose first association with the Holmes case is obscured in the mystery which envelops its every detail, passed through an ordeal yesterday as severe as any his client has been called to face, and the crisis came when he was held under $1,500 bail to answer a charge of subordination of perjury. This means that he manufactured evidence tending to prove that Benjamin F. Pitzel, for whose murder Holmes was convicted two weeks ago, committed suicide, and that he (Shoemaker) paid a woman $20 to sign and swear to this.

But the commonwealth had supplied the woman, although Shoemaker was ignorant of this, and after he had produced this important "after-discovered evidence" and read it, with great impressment to the court, he asked that the argument on the motion for a new trial, which had been fixed for yesterday, be postponed to give him and his associate counsel, Samuel P. Rotan, time to run out this and other clues recently obtained.

Then it was that District Attorney Graham arose and exposed the plot. His declaration came like a thunderbolt. The court stared in wide-eyed amazement; the spectators turned in their chairs and gasped; the accused lawyer sank back in his seat, livid and tremulous, while his innocent associate glared at him with unveiled horror, but the prisoner in the dock rested his cold, blue eyes on the shrinking figure of his legal representative and smiled with scorn.

The trial for the Pitzel murder was not two days old when Shoemaker approached a private detective named John Schweichler and asked him to procure a woman who lived around Twelfth or Thirteenth and Callowhill or Vine streets, who would swear to certain facts in connection with the finding of Pitzel's body at No. 1316 Callowhill street. Schweichler assented, but instead of straightway getting the woman, he told his story to Detective Geyer, who, for the commonwealth, brought to light the evidences of Holmes' murder of the children.

Geyer submitted it to District Attorney Graham, and a most skillful trap was prepared, a trap which has brought about the ruin of the opposing attorney.

Under instructions, Geyer went to Mrs. Margaret Reah, a matron in the Fourth District police station, and she, under the name of Blanche A. Hannigan, was taken to Shoemaker by Schweichler. Meantime Shoemaker had prepared an affidavit stating that the deponent had known Pitzel and that to her he had expressed his intention of committing suicide. Mrs. Hannigan readily signed and swore to this, and Shoemaker gave her two $10 bills for so doing. On each bill she marked the initials "B. A. H." and yesterday she exhibited them in court.

Shoemaker walked into the trap blindfold. When he read the affidavit to the court, he declared that its contents had been dictated to him by the woman. A moment afterward irrefutable testimony was produced, showing that he himself had made up the affidavit and dictated it to a stenographer before he had even asked Schweichler to procure a woman to sign it, and that he had not so much as read or explained its purport to Mrs. Hannigan.

Judge Arnold, who was upon the bench during the trial, had called in Judges Thayer and Willson to hear and decide with him on the merits of yesterday's arguments for a new trial. As the strange revelations came the three judges did not hesitate, by their bearing and words, to manifest their sense of the gravity of the accused lawyer's situation. Judge Arnold afterward privately stated that disbarment proceedings would be considered after the disposition of the pending charge against Shoemaker.

Shoemaker had nothing to say. He was stunned and shocked beyond measure, but said this was not the time for him to talk.

Rotan, his associate, expressed his confidence in his colleague's final exonerated, but he admitted that the evidence of his guilt was overwhelming. Rotan himself was unsmirched. The witnesses, the district attorney, and the court were careful to make that clear, and the young barrister who has fought practically single-handed a battle against tremendous odds with some skill and much fortitude was visibly affected.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Thayer, speaking for the court, said they would give the case their gravest consideration. Then, turning to Mr. Shoemaker, the judge said:

"I regret that I now have a very disagreeable duty to perform toward you, a member of this bar and an attorney of this court. In view of the developments of this morning and the testimony of the witnesses whom you have heard, concerning the use you attempted to make of the affidavit you procured, the court feel it to be their duty, no other party being left open, to hold you in $1,500 bail to answer the charge of subordination of perjury, and in default of bail to stand committed."

"The bail is here, your honor," said the accused attorney.

Mr. Shoemaker declined to be interviewed. He said that the blow was a cruel and sudden one and he felt that his whole future hung in the balance, but he would not discuss it at this time.

HAVE NO MONOPOLY.

United States Supreme Court Makes an Important Decision.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The United States Supreme court, in an opinion by Justice Harlan yesterday, held, in effect, that the Union Pacific Railway company had no right to make a lease practically giving the Western Union Telegraph company an exclusive right to maintain telegraph lines along the route of the railway company. The case came here from Nebraska, and the court, by its decision, reverses the judgment of the Circuit Court of Appeals, and affirms the judgment of the Circuit Court for the Nebraska district. The decision rendered yesterday holds that the United States has a right to maintain a bill in equity to compel the Union Pacific to maintain its own lines of telegraph along its railroad routes, and that the obligation imposed on the railway company to do this was as strong as its obligation to maintain the railroad tracks.

Costly Mission Work.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 19.—Bulgaria was the principal subject discussed at yesterday's sitting of the general missionary committee of the M. E. church. Work among the Germans in the United States was first taken up, and after discussion was referred to a committee. The committee appointed by the board of managers gave a thorough history of the mission in Bulgaria since its establishment in 1857. After sixteen years' work about fifty members were all that could be shown. Now, after an expenditure of about $400,000, there are 280 members. In the afternoon the committee on work among the Germans in this country reported recommendations for the following appropriations: California, $4,000; Chicago, $3,927; Eastern, $5,794; Northern, $3,097; Northern Pacific, $4,957; North Wisconsin, $4,586; St. Louis, $3,511; Southern, $4,000; Western, $6,828.

The passengers raised a purse of $150 and presented it to Downs, who handed it over to the widow of his fireman.

DID A BOLD JOB, BUT GOT NO PAY

BANDITS HELD UP A GREAT NORTHERN TRAIN.

Robbers Headed Off by a Freight Train on the Northern Pacific and Made Their Escape Without Any Plunder—Big Poses Searching the Country.

St. Cloud, Minn., Nov. 19.—Great Northern train No. 3, crowded with passengers, was held up at 10:15 o'clock last night four miles west of Clear Lake and eight miles from St. Cloud.

Fireman William Carley had just turned to get a shovelful of coal when a revolver was flashed before his eyes and a masked man commanded him to tell the engineer to stop the train and not fail to help him to do so.

The engineer saw the robber almost as soon as his fireman did, heard the command and lost no time in bringing the train to a standstill. At the same moment another robber appeared alongside the locomotive, leveled a rifle at the head of the engineer, and ordered him to leave the cab and go back and uncouple the express car. The second robber attended the engineer in the performance of his task, but the bandits did not know that there were two express cars attached to the train. The engineer knew this fact, but he uncoupled only one—the first.

By this time the first robber had joined his pal with the fireman under guard, and the two ordered the train hands to proceed to the door of the detached car and tell the express messenger to make a clear way for them. The messenger threw back the door and the two robbers entered where he kept the express money. The expressman knew what was going on before the car was uncoupled, and had thrown away the keys of the safes. The robbers, he said, could get nothing valuable unless they blew the large safe open. The small, local safe, he said, contained nothing of value, and the combination of the large one was known only to the express agent at Fargo, N. D.

While the parleying in the express car was going on the passengers, believing the train had been held up, and fearing the bandits would attack them, were greatly terrified and were not loath to obey the command of several other bandits, who appeared at the side of the track and ordered them to keep their heads inside the cars.

The robbers then ordered the fireman and engineer to get on the engine and run the express car toward St. Cloud. They started off. Meantime the conductor had heard shots and started through the train and notified the passengers that the train was being held up. The conductor tried to get a revolver, and finally got one from a man in the sleeper. He also found a detective, and W. F. Breslin and H. H. Stone of Glasgow, Mont. These three started up the track as the engineer started off with the express car. At this point the Great Northern and Northern Pacific tracks run side by side.

The men had gone about a mile when they saw a Northern Pacific freight train approaching. The conductor signaled the freight train to stop. The three men got aboard and told the freight conductor to run past the express train, paying no attention to signals, and get to St. Cloud if he possibly could. The robbers signaled the train as it approached the passenger cars, but the freight engineer paid no attention to their signals.

After they had got past and about a mile and a half away, they saw the engine and express car standing on the other track. The conductor told the freight men to stop when they got a short distance further and this was done. Part of the freight crew returned on foot to the spot where the robbers were attempting to loot the express car.

The desperadoes saw them coming and concluded to give up a bad job. Telling the engineer to whose engine the first express was still attached to pull out for St. Cloud, they remained on the car and were soon speeding away. At the outskirts of St. Cloud the robbers jumped from the car and disappeared in the darkness.

The engine and express car arrived at St. Cloud shortly after midnight. The Northern Pacific freight proceeded on its journey, and as soon as it reached the town gave the alarm, and a posse of men from that place joined the others who had already set out from St. Cloud in pursuit of the robbers. Within half an hour fully 100 men on horseback and in wagons from various parts were scouring every acre of country around St. Cloud.

The highwaymen secured absolutely nothing. They failed to board the car that contained most of the express money.

Oil Tank Explodes at Whiting, Ind.

Whiting, Ind., Nov. 19.—A 15,000-barrel storage tank of the Standard Oil company exploded violently at 10 o'clock last evening. The force of the explosion shattered many of the windows of the buildings in the vicinity of the tank and aroused the whole town. The tank was nearly full of partially refined oil and burned fiercely. Other tanks full of oil were near at hand, and it was feared that the fire might spread to them, and the company fought the fire vigorously. The fire was under control at midnight.

LAST BODIES FOUND BY THE SEARCHERS

SEVENTEEN VICTIMS OF THE CLEVELAND DISASTER.

The Search Has Now Been Abandoned—Charges Made That a Safety Contrivance to Prevent Accidents at the Bridge, Was Out of Order.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—The life-saving and fireboat crews resumed work early yesterday morning in the endeavor to recover additional bodies of the victims of Saturday night's terrible street-car disaster at the draw bridge of the Central viaduct. Shortly after 10 o'clock the body of a woman was brought to the surface of the river, and was identified as that of Miss Martha Saurenheimer. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. John A. Saurenheimer, whose body was recovered Saturday night.

The body of the seventeenth, and probably the last, victim of the motor accident was recovered from the river in the afternoon. It was that of Matthew Callinan, and it was buried in the mud directly where the trucks of the motor had been. The search for bodies has now been abandoned.

Rogers, the motorman, who jumped from the car to save his life, was bound over without bail in the police court for two weeks, during which time a thorough investigation will be made into the affair. It was settled yesterday that one of the safeguards provided by the street railway company at the Central viaduct drawbridge to prevent accidents has been out of order for three weeks. It was a device of levers, so arranged that when the safety gates at the approaches to the draw were closed the current would be shut off for a distance of 500 feet on each side of the river. The wires remained dead until the drawbridge was closed and the gates were swung back to the sides of the roadway. With the cut-off in working order, a motorman could not run his car to the river, and the absence of power would be an infallible warning of danger.

WILL SPEAK TO-NIGHT.

Secretary Carlisle's New York Speech Looked For With Interest.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Secretary Carlisle will deliver an address at the New York chamber of commerce banquet tonight. It is assumed by some that in that address the secretary will indicate the administration financial policy. The statement is made by administration writers that, as the secretary is to respond to the toast of "The Currency Question," he will scarcely speak on so important a subject at this time without consultation with the president, and that the speech may be in the nature of an official utterance, and will be so received by the 300 business men present, representing, in the fullest degree, the financial and commercial interests of New York; that it will be all the more important in view of the forthcoming session of congress, which must in some way deal with the question of the currency, and also in view of the resumption of gold exports, which, the contract with the bond syndicate having expired, means another depletion of the treasury reserve.

OPENING WAS TAME.

Settlers Enter the Nez Perces Reservation Without Excitement.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 19.—The Nez Perces Indian reservation, Idaho, was opened at noon yesterday. There was no firing of guns or any other signals given. There was no lining up for a grand rush, but the people at noon were all over the reservation, each on his chosen quarter section. At noon work was commenced by establishing corners and laying foundations. A large number of people were at the land office in the morning, but they were informed that they must locate before they could file claims.

One cabinet officer stated that Hatch was instructed to proceed on lines tending to closely cement the two countries until the American administration changed, and then to insist on speedy admission of Hawaii as a territory.

MINISTER TERRELL ACTS.

Our Interests in Turkey Are Being Well Looked After.

Constantinople, Nov. 19.—No details have yet been received here of the massacre of 800 Armenians at Karpoot, or of the sack and burning of eight out of twelve of the buildings belonging to the American missionaries there. United States Ambassador Terrell has telegraphed for particulars of the outbreak, asking especially whether the eight American mission buildings were directly set on fire by the rioters or if they simply caught fire and were destroyed as the result of a general conflagration.

The American and other missionaries at Bitlis have been compelled to return to Van, under an escort of Turkish troops, which was accorded them upon the strong representations of Mr. Terrell to the Porte. At the request of the United States consulate, the Vail of Aleppo has detailed certain Turkish officials of high rank to protect the Americans of that place, and he has held them responsible for the lives of those placed under their charge.

Further massacres are reported from Sivas and there is a report that 4,000 Armenians have been massacred at Gurun.

Serious Flood at St. Petersburg.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—Advices received here from St. Petersburg give details of the severe storm which swept over that part of Russia last Wednesday. In addition, the wooden buildings along the banks of the Neva, piers, etc., were washed away, and the low-lying quarters of the city were inundated. Boats were used in some of the streets to carry people to places of safety, and strong detachments of troops and police were sent to the assistance of those who were in danger. The peasants inhabiting many of the villages on the outskirts of St. Petersburg lost everything through the floods, their homes, cattle, and all belongings being swept away. The amount of damage done is said to be very great, indeed, and many lives were lost.

WARDS MUST PAY FOR STREET WORK

COUNCIL ACTS ON ALDERMAN BURNHAM'S PROPOSITION.

He Held That Such Bills Could Not Be Paid From the General Fund—C. & N. W. Road Have an Advertising Proposition—Much Miscellaneous Business Was Transacted.

Alderman S. C. Burnham questioned the legality and the justice of paying for work done by the steam roller and stone crusher out of the general fund, at the council meeting last evening, and City Attorney McElroy backed up in his statement. Hereafter each ward will be charged with the amount of stone used.

All the aldermen were present except Alderman Sutherland. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The report of the board of education was received, referred, found correct and ordered published. Clerk Badger then read a communication from J. H. Gately saying he was ready to build a walk of regulation width if the city would move the drinking fountain at his corner. Alderman Winslow said that the city engineer had surveyed the place and said the fountain was in the street. Engineer Bleedorn was called for and said he had run a lot line, and that the fountain was six feet from the line. Mr. Gately asked the city engineer a few questions. He said the stake the engineer drove was not six feet from the fountain, and it was on the stake that he based his claim. The fountain was a nuisance and a damage to his property he said. It had marked out the sidewalk and cut into the lawn once. He would like to have the fountain moved. He was willing to stand his share of annoyance for the convenience of the public, but he thought this was too much. Mayor Baines referred the matter to the chairman of the fire and water committee.

To Advertise the City.

Clerk Badger then read a lengthy letter from C. S. Nichols, in behalf of the Northwestern Magazine—"Headlight"—they offering to get out a boom edition of the paper concerning Janesville if the city would pay for the cuts—$200. The letter stated that this was the medium used by the C. & N. W. road to boom the cities on its lines, etc.

Alderman McLean said it was a proposition worth looking into, and he moved that the mayor appoint a committee of five to look into it. The motion prevailed, and Mayor Baines appointed Aldermen McLean, Burnham, Kothman, Winslow and Stearns. City Engineer Bleedorn reported that B. P. Crossman had done $13.60 worth of extra work in laying the sidewalks about the high school, which bill was afterward ordered paid. The petition of Peace court property owners asking that the sidewalk be continued on that street to Cornelia street, was referred to the aldermen of the second ward.

Alderman Hemming, of the finance committee, reported in favor of paying a number of bills, which report was adopted.

Alderman Burnham wanted to know where the expense of running the roller and crusher was charged. Clerk Badger said it was taken from the general fund. Ald. Burnham said he thought the wards ought to pay for what they got.

Some Discussion Followed.

Alderman Smith said stone was being crushed and stored. Wards that were not now using it would want it some time. Repairs made on any street were for the good of the whole city.

Alderman McLean said the machine had been used experimentally, this year, and he thought it right to pay the bills from the general fund. Next year it might be done differently. None of the work had been properly done. It had simply been repairs. Alderman Winslow asked for City Attorney McElroy's opinion as to the legality of doing the work in that way. Mr. McElroy said there was no provision in the charter that provided for charging street work to the general fund. He thought the city could charge whatever was used by wards to that ward.

Alderman McLean said street cleaning had always been paid from the general fund. City Attorney McElroy said he didn't think it was right to do it that way.

Street commissioner Watson said he could tell how much stone the different wards used within 25 cents of the actual cost.

Alderman Smith moved that the highway committee be empowered to investigate and report, which motion prevailed.

committee reported that the committee had examined the sidewalk on which Miss Ella Pratt was alleged to have fallen and that as it was in no way defective, the city was not liable. The report was adopted.

Many Orders Adopted.

Ald. Burnham introduced an order granting the Chicago & Northwestern road the right to use streets while repairing their bridges on North Main street, they to hold the city free from damages. Adopted.

Alderman Hemming introduced an order refunding $28.67 to Matilda London as taxes illegally collected. Adopted.

Alderman Burnham said the health officer reported that the city needed a new stove in the detention hospital, and one was ordered purchased.

Clerk Badger then read a bill sent in by O. G. Roberts, claiming $75 damages for a runaway caused by the steam roller; one from the county for $138.99 back license money, and one from W. H. H. Macdon, assignee of John Martin for $67.42, all of which were referred to the finance committee.

Alderman Winslow introduced an order to clean and repair South Main street, also to have the gas post on the southwest corner of Court and South Main streets removed.

Alderman McLean said the mayor and officials of Sheboygan and Neenah would be here and he moved that the street commissioner and chief engineer extend them all courtesy. Alderman Winslow moved that a committee be appointed to entertain them as they thought fit. The motion was adopted and Mayor Baines appointed Alderman Winslow, Smith, Burnham, Stearns and Hemming. The council then adjourned.

Women Can Keep Strong and Well by Taking

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

The advent of woman into new occupations brings a new era into her life. Heretofore she had only to encounter the strain of household duties. Broader fields bring to her increased burdens. Her naturally sensitive organism is subject to a new nervous tension. How does it affect her? It brings exhaustion to her nervous energies. It brings weakness and loss of vitality. It adds new dangers to her condition. What does it do to future generations? It robs them of the robust vitality and nervous force they ought to have. It starts them in life the weaker physically and mentally, the result of this condition of her nervous system, weakened and overwrought as it is. It then becomes a vital subject of the welfare of the women—one to which the thoughtful are already giving attention, one of serious moment to all.

It is a duty of each woman to herself and her children. Give only to household duties that burden, see to it that your overworked nerves are righted and your exhausted strength regained. Don't delay a single hour. If you are a woman wage earner in any occupation and are overworked in the duties which weigh upon you, see to it that we keep your nervous force up to its proper standard that you renew your strength and keep up your power to work. It means health and happiness to you; health for you to do your work well and happiness to make life worth living. Attend to it at once.

You have only to use the wonderful help nature has provided in that wonderful restorer of health and strength, the powerful invigorator of brain, nerve and body, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Read what it did for Mrs. F. Cohen, of 153 Pacific street, Newark, N. J.

"I had been sick for three years," writes Mrs. Cohen, "weak, nervous and run down until I didn't care whether I lived or died. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and it has made a new woman of me today. I had the rheumatism in one of my legs, and I could not rest at night until I tried Dr. Greene's Nervura and I can truly say I am entirely cured. I feel twice as young and all my friends say I don't look like the same person. Nervura has certainly done me a wonderful sight of good."

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

was the gathering place and it was crowded to the utmost capacity. Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard held the large audience almost spell bound for two hours listening to one of the most patriotic speeches ever heard here.

Surgeon General in chief, Dr. J. B. Whiting of Janesville, also addressed the meeting, his remarks being peculiarly appropriate to the occasion. He spoke of the loyal women of the wars, and held the undivided interest of his hearers.

Hon. S. S. Jones, member of the assembly from this district, on behalf of "the boys of 1895" greeted "the boys of 1860" in a very able manner. An address of welcome was also made by Post Commander W. A. Shattuck.

FOOTBALL GAME AT MILTON

Junction Second Eleven Were Defeated—Colonel Smith's Lecture.

Milton, Nov. 19.—The second eleven of the Junction high school and the graded school eleven of this village, met on the gridiron here Friday afternoon. The result gave Milton the game by a score of 6 to 0.

The Ashland Press says of Colonel Smith's lecture on "The Songs of Patriotism," which he delivers in college chapel on the evening before Thanksgiving, next Wednesday, November 27, "the discourse gives a minute history of each one of the national airs, beginning with the song whose origin is lost in oblivion, when the British danced to the tune of 'Yankee Doodle.' 'The Star Spangled Banner' and its romantic history was related in a way that made the old song dearer than ever. We affirm unhesitatingly that there is no more attractive, popular and educational lecture in the course at this place or anywhere else than this 'Songs of the War of the Union.' This region is being favored with moisture in homeopathic doses, and we are duly thankful, but what we need is a real old-fashioned Baptist deluge. E. Brotherton is building a barn on his recent purchase. Vincent & Hassenger shipped two carloads of live hogs from this station Monday. Petherston Bros. also shipped a car. Monday was one of the finest November days ever seen in this climate. L. B. Root, of Whitewater, was a Milton visitor Monday. Miss Ida Blount was the guest of Milton friends this week. Mr. Clarke, the veterinary surgeon, who formerly lived at Emerald Grove and attended college here, now a partner of the state veterinary Dr. Scott, at Beaver Dam, was in town Saturday shaking hands with acquaintances.

Gossip From Rock River, Rock River, Nov. 19.—School at this place opened for the winter term last Monday. Lons Balch spent a part of last week with friends at Edgerton. Dr. A. S. Maxon of Milton Junction attended church at this place last Sabbath. Rev. E. A. Witter of Albion preached at this place last Sabbath. Mrs. A. M. West of Mitchell, Dakota, visited old time friends here this week. Mrs. Calvin Hull of Milton Junction visited at Mrs. Almira Vincent last Tuesday. Frank Burdick and Elmer Vincent have obtained flowing wells. Men from Fort Atkinson did the work. Calvin Hull of Milton Junction is having his house at this place painted. Henry Bliven of Albion visited friends here one day last week.

Outing Flannel Night Robes...

The solid comfort kind—well-made, material firm, good patterns. Just such a gown as a careful seamstress would make. Our first lot of these lasted less than a week. There are many makes of Outing Flannel Night Gowns in the market but none better than these, many much inferior. Price in easy reach—$1.

Mackintoshes

O, how women do hate the unreliable sort. Think of getting a dress ruined because of a faulty rain coat. Garments such as we sell are the safe kind to buy. Assortments of worthy mackintoshes such as this store shows are not often seen.

Shawls.

Nothing can take their place in a woman's wardrobe. Nothing quite so handy to slip on if one wishes to run over to see a neighbor. If going on a long ride, what is there that will cling to one, keep every spot warm, protect you from the cold like a good shawl?

Just now our stock is very complete. Have them for every shawl desire. Good, heavy, warm shawls at $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00, &c $4.00 for splendid, reversible, plaid shawls, camel's hair finish. $5.00 for solid blacks: heavy soft wool, hairy surface; chinchilla finish; heavy diagonal styles.

Scottish Ostrich Down Wraps: reversible, dark and light gray, plain one side, plaid the other.

Yorkshire Rugs—A veritable blanket such as an Indian would cast green eyes at; one side plain, some dark, some light. Opposite side, large bright plaid pattern, very artistic, $10.00.

Rich Himalayas—Heavy Beavers. England and Scotland were the homes of many of our best shawl offerings. Nothing slighted in the make.

Mittens.

Here you have the pick of thirty kinds of mittens. Comfort giving, every one of them.

THE LOCAL OVERFLOW.

A YEAR'S GOOD WORK GONE OVER AGAIN

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES' ANNUAL MEETING HELD.

The Session Was Held Yesterday Afternoon—The Report of the Secretary, Miss Millie Chittenden—Treasurer Rexford's Report Shows That $510.01 Has Been Handled.

A year's work was reviewed by the Associated Charities at the meeting held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at their room in the Jackson block. The secretary, Miss Millie Chittenden, read her annual report which was as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: We have come to the period which marks off the ninth year of existence and work of the charity organization in this city.

Our reports are necessarily similar year by year as regards the number of meetings held, the number of visitors and the number of families visited.

The Associated Charities has been entirely free from political influence or sectarianism. Democrats, republicans, Jews, Catholics, Protestant men and women have united heartily without friction or jealousy in their work. The object is to reduce vagrancy and pauperism and entertain their true causes; to prevent indiscriminate and duplicate giving; to see that deserving cases of destitution are properly relieved; to elevate home life, health and habit of the poor, and to prevent children from growing up as paupers.

Rules in the relief of human souls (since no two human needs were ever exactly alike) are dangerous, but simple principles are absolutely necessary.

One way in which we may be very useful in our visits is to keep all our senses alert for bad sanitary conditions.

Visitors Can Do Good

One of the greatest needs of the poor is a standard of cleanly and thrifty living a standard which they only acquire through contact with those who, like our friendly visitors, are willing to go among them in the spirit of practical and painstaking friendliness.

Thanks are due our president and the visitors who have been faithful to the meetings and untiring in their efforts to uplift and relieve. Their wisdom has been often taxed to determine between the worthy and unworthy. Doubtless some undeserving persons have been helped at the expense of the unfortunate yet no one should be allowed to starve in our midst.

The visitors' work, though constant and often very perplexing, is not such as will show in a report.

And now we would like some voluntary aid to this society. Some of the ladies feel they cannot continue in the work, and would like new and willing workers.

For myself, I find it very necessary to resign my position which the society has honored me with so long, and feel sure in so doing there will be elected one who will fill far more acceptably the office than I.

Young Ladies at Work.

In other cities I find that young ladies have taken the work in charge. In large places we find connected with the charity organizations a wood yard or a laundry, or potato fields. The latter was tried in Detroit last summer and met with success. It was simply to utilize the land in the outskirts of the city for cultivation for the poor in raising food for themselves.

During the past year there have been twenty-nine regular meetings, sixty-nine families aided and 583 garments on record given out, besides some which were accidentally not kept track of.

The following is a list of donations: Basket containing three dressed dolls, one pair new knit mittens, one pair knit baby shoes and some paper dolls, from children at the Institute for the Blind.

Package containing four outing flannel baby night gowns, two long flannel skirts and two blankets. No name signed.

The Cash Donations.

Check of $25 from William Payne; $10.80 Thanksgiving offering from School for the Blind; $1.10 basket of groceries from Y. P. S. C. E. of Presbyterian church; $50 from William Payne; order on J. H. Gately for ton hard coal and one cord wood, from Rev. R. J. Roche; $5, I. C. Brownell; $316.00 from Imperial Entertainment; sewing machine from Mrs. Dr. Barrows; three trimmed hats from Kennedy Sisters; $26.50 from Fortnightly club lecture course; $1.00 from Mrs. Myer.

We acknowledge gratefully the good will, financial support and co-operation which this work has received in the past, and hope to merit and receive similar co-operation in the future. Some one has wisely said:

"A kindly act is a kernel sown That will grow to a goodly tree; Shedding its fruit when time has flown Down the gulf of eternity."

The Treasurer's Report.

Treasurer John G. Rexford made his report as follows:

Balance on hand at last report, Nov. 19, 1894.....$51.16
Received from all sources for year ending Nov. 18, 1895.....458.85
Total.....$510.01

Attractiveness will be the conspicuous feature of our Thanksgiving number. Original pictorial effects will make it by far the most attractive Thanksgiving paper ever issued, and in literary quality it cannot be excelled.

Everybody within the trade radius of Janesville will get a copy. Winter trade will be under full headway by Thanksgiving and advertising will be valuable.

First come first served is our business method. Reserve space at once and don't come rushing in at the eleventh hour when your neighbors occupy all the good positions.

A week from Wednesday is the date.

AUCTIONEERS DO A BIG BUSINESS

Commercial Orators Have About All the Work They Can See To.

While many business men are complaining of the hard times, the auctioneers are not complaining. A local auctioneer says that he has never been in such demand for his services as at the present time. He has had on an average of four calls a week, and it now looks as though it would keep it up through the winter.

"I think the boom is due to hard times, for people are breaking up house-keeping and farmers are selling out," is the way a local commercial orator put it.

PROF. TURNER AND T. JEFFERSON.

Contradictory Phases of the Great Democrat's Career Reconciled by a Student.

Jeffersonian democracy was discussed by Prof. T. J. Turner last night. The contradictory phases of Jefferson's career were dwelt upon especially—his start as a strict constructionist and his subsequent purchase of Louisiana; his declaration against manufacturing and his conversion to the manufacturer's cause; his plea against war and in contrast his idea of creating a great military fund out of the surplus taxes. All these contradictions were explained by the fact that in all things Jefferson was for the individual development. This was brought out even more strongly in the discussion that followed. Next week the subject will be "The Struggle for Neutrality."

A RELIABLE PILE CURE.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest and surest pile cure on the market, because it contains no mineral poisons, nor opium nor cocaine, but can be used with absolute safety and certainty of cure.

Many physicians are now using the Pyramid Pile Cure in place of surgical operations, being painless, convenient to use, and the patient can attend to his daily occupation while the cure is being made, as it is used at night and no additional treatment is necessary.

Dr. Wharton says the Pyramid Pile Cure will prove a blessing to mankind, when it is remembered that heretofore a surgical operation was considered the only cure with all its danger to life, intense pain and an expense of from ten to one hundred dollars, to say nothing of the possible return of the trouble. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 Cents and $1.00 and does the work quickly and safely.

A book on cause and cure of piles will be mailed free by addressing Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

GETTING THERE.

We have the largest stock of Woolens in Rock County—we have too many and fulls realizing the fact that but six weeks remain before the season closes—we propose to reduce our stock of Woolens if real low prices will do it. We have enjoyed an exceeding good trade since the first of August "Thanks" and have kept our tailors all busy and all of the time (in the shop not in the store) We are anxious to RUSH 'EM for the next six weeks, so we will make prices on Suits, Overcoats and Pants that will made them sell. First-class Suits, guaranteed all wool and reliable colors, $20 and upwards. Overcoats in Veltan, Beaver, Shetlan or Chinchilla, $25 and up. These goods are worth more but we have too many and prefer to cheapen now than later. You know us for veracity.

KNEFF & ALLEN

IT WORRIES SOME PEOPLE!

The storekeepers of Clothing are very much displeased with us because we insist on low prices. They say: Why don't you stop selling those All-Wool Men's Suits for $5 and $6.75? You know well enough there's no profit in such business. Now you're selling Overcoats at the same price.

To be frank with you, we are desirous of pleasing the numbers that crowd our store—that come with a purpose to save money. We've pleased them to such an extent that they not only come and come again but send everybody within their reach.

Today you'll find our store filled with your neighbors and with others who don't live within ten miles of you. They're all, like yourselves, investing their money where it fetches the best clothes. Now come along and choose your Winter Clothes. You'll be more interested in what your wages bring.

All-Wool Suits Will Go for $5.00.

Good, All-Wool Overcoats—Yes, $5.00. Great Storm Coats, $5.00.

There will be a crowd of Overcoats find new owners here today sure. Another crowd will secure $5 and $6.75 Men's Suits. Here, you're certain again of all wool. Always making, always selling—these $5 and $6.75 Men's Suits have no equal for value. Guaranteed just as fully as if we were getting $10 and $12 for them, like anybody else.

Boys' Clothes share same low prices. Big boy, $5; small boy, $2.50 up. We're artists in clothing boys.

THE MAN SAID SNOW; AND SNOW WE GOT

JOHNSON'S CREEK FORECASTER IS VINDICATED.

His First Prediction Came True and a Little More—Street Cars Had a Hard Time—Freight Trains Delayed—Many Wires Break—Cold Wave Is Coming.

HAT Johnson's Creek weather man is all right and we must stand in with him. Last night he told the 15867 readers of The Gazette (affidavits at the business office) that it would snow. And the next day it did. It was no ordinary snow either. It came in bales. And bales. And wagon loads. Johnson's Creek's weather experts held a mass meeting yesterday. They said their justly celebrated reputation for correct weather had been questioned by one of the most influential journals in the United States and that something must be done. The chairman of the meeting was instructed to send a postal card to Weather Clerk Burnham saying that it would snow in Janesville before Tuesday morning. The gods were with the Heaven born prognosticator, and Mr. Boreas was his friend.

And It Snowed. When the common council adjourned last night, there was no snow in sight. But when the aldermen arose this morning, they saw much beautiful, and a few—a very few—men agitating the snow shovel question. There is no insinuation in this remark. It simply fixes the time when the snow began to fall—within a few hours.

When the flakes began to fall they made a business of it. It was an organized effort to overcome the popular belief that when the Johnson's Creek man said it would snow that the thermometers would burst open with the heat. Big clots of snow chased each other through the court house park and spilled themselves on the sidewalks. In order that they might make themselves felt, they also perched on the telegraph, telephone, electric light and fire alarm wires. This impressed Manager Carpenter, Manager Willis, Manager Hayes, Manager Norcross and Manager Klein with the possibilities of the Johnson's Creek weather bureau. Telegraphs and telephones refused to tell, while lights flickered, and the fire alarm bell retaliated by speaking out a clarion note with its iron tongue.

Caused Car Men Trouble. And the street cars! If you wanted joy, happiness and all kinds of fun, you ought to have been an employee of the street railway company and the managing editor of a car. The wheels slipped and slid; the motormen swept and swore; the trolleys spluttered and spun, while people walked or waited. Superintendent Proudfoot was busy. He was at seventeen places in seventeen seconds, and finally they got the track clear. But the cars didn't run. They just slid.

The storm was general. It covered the county, according to the reports received at The Gazette office, as well as everything else in sight. But it didn't last long. At noon the kindly man who makes weather and horse-shoes at Johnson's Creek, relented. He left a yoke to blow the force, while he ordered out the sun. This sun, like a few other so's, was dutiful. It came forth. Then the snow began to melt and run away. It ran to the river. The river rose, and mill men rejoiced.

The Gazette Apologizes. The Gazette is sorry for the cruel words used in referring to Johnson's Creek as a center for the manufacture of weather. Perhaps some of the other papers about the state that substituted the name of their town, and inflicted the same yarn on their readers, are sorry too, but that is another story. The Johnson's Creek men know their business. They run their weather bureau just as they see fit. The Gazette humbly begs pardon and all bets are off.

Passenger trains on either the Northwestern and the St. Paul roads were not delayed on account of the storm, but freight were behind time. Railroad men report very little snow north of this city on both the Green Bay and the Madison divisions. The snow was just the right kind to make trouble with electric wires, and the lightning, telephone and telegraph companies experienced considerable trouble. Fire alarm wires also suffered more or less.

Cold Wave Tonight. But they are not yet done with us. Weather Clerk Burnham today received another card, and you can wager all your old shoes that it is correct. What they say "goes" and they say this:

Forecast: Cold wave tonight and on Wednesday fair.

The temperature as recorded by S. C. Burnham & Co. during the last twenty-four hours was as follows:

BIG FOOTBALL GAME IS DECLARED OFF

JANESVILLE WILL NOT SEE THE BATTLE ROYAL.

University of Wisconsin and Beloit College Teams Cannot Agree—Former Team Would Play in Janesville Only, while Beloit Would Not Leave Their Home Grounds.

Madison, Nov. 19.—[Special]—There will be no foot ball game between Beloit and the University of Wisconsin teams this fall. This decision was reached last evening. Both teams were anxious to play, but could not decide on the place. The Wisconsin boys wanted to play in Janesville, and in fact, would not play any other place, while the Beloit team would not leave their home grounds. So the game was declared off. This is a great disappointment to many Madison students. Hundreds had made arrangements to visit Janesville on the day of the game.

It is also quite a disappointment to the university team as they have been in as fine condition as they have been at any time this fall. Although Janesville people will be disappointed in not seeing this game, they will probably see a game next fall between Wisconsin and some other large college, such as the Northwestern University.

Captain Richard of Madison, will witness the Yale-Princeton next Saturday.

SOMETHING HEATS US.

Our Blood Is Fuel as Well as Nourishment for Our Body.

How It Keeps Us Warm.

The Healthier Our Kidneys, the Purer Our Blood; the Purer It Is, the Better.

Some Striking Medical Facts.

Warmth and Health; Colds and Sickness; Cold in the Kidneys and What It May Lead To.

The Way To Be Warm and Healthy.

Somebody has said that taking cold is the cause of half our diseases. It is probably true.

What is a cold? It is a fever and inflammation. It attacks unhealthy parts of the body. Unhealthy because not properly nourished by the blood. Not properly nourished because the blood is not properly filtered.

Here we have the whole thing in a nutshell. If our kidneys are perfect, by well we would hardly ever take cold.

Our blood heats us. It keeps us fat, and warm, and strong and healthy.

If it doesn't, it is only because our kidneys prevent it.

They're not filtering as they ought to be.

What is filtering? It is taking out the poison in the blood; the uric acid, the waste matter, the stuff that makes the blood poison instead of nourishing us.

This, the kidneys are there to do. People with thin, pale, sallow faces and blotched complexions, people who are nervous and headachy, rheumatic, neuralgic, anemic. These are the people who seem to catch cold if a breath of wind blows over them.

They are not well nourished. Their blood is not filtered. They need Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills. They need them because their kidneys need curing to make them filter the blood.

This filtering of the blood is one of the most wonderful facts of our body. Who would ever suppose that you had a filter inside you?

But everybody knows it now, thanks to the discoveries of modern medicine.

And, thanks to the discoveries of Dr. Hobb, everybody knows how to cure these filters when they are sick. A few doses of Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will relieve. A few boxes will cure.

Some people are always taking cold in their kidneys, just as others are getting coughs and sore throats.

It is because we are weaker there. Warmth is healthy; chills are dangerous. Cold is only healthy when it makes you warm afterwards.

Cold in the kidneys may bring on many dangerous diseases.

It should be stopped at once with Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

The best thing to do with a cold is to prevent it and you can do this by keeping well fed and well clothed, by not overworking, by seeing that your kidneys filter your blood.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills will aid you in this. They will keep your kidneys in health and cure them if they are sick. They will do this when no other medicine will cure you. By filtering your blood they will keep you warm and healthy and cure such disorders as Bright's disease, rheumatism, gout, anemia, chlorosis, neuralgia, nervousness, dizziness, hysteria, etc.

Sold by all druggists or mailed prepaid for 50 cents a box.

Write for valuable free medical pamphlet about the kidneys: "A Filter for Your Blood." Hobb's Medicine Co., Chicago or San Francisco.

Importance of Healthy Blood.

Every drop of blood that circulates through the veins eventually becomes a solid particle of the body. Flesh, bone and muscle are merely solidified blood, and upon the quality of the blood depends the condition of the whole physical system. Unless the liquid material by which the human substance is renewed and sustained is pure and nutritious, it is impossible that the body can be healthy and strong. One of the most important properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is that of improving the condition of the vital fluid, when infected or impoverished. Acting directly and powerfully on the stomach, in which the manufacture of the blood is commenced, and upon the liver which secretes a fluid next in importance to the stream of life itself, this powerful vegetable tonic and purgative has an immense indirect influence upon the circulation. Hence the extraordinary cures wrought by the Bitters in cases of general debility, malarious fevers, rheumatism, biliousness, constipation, etc.

"MY FOOD DOES ME NO GOOD."

In any city there are many possible ways to travel from one point to another. But between the food on your table and its destination in the body there is only one road,—directly through the stomach. There is no going around the stomach or forcing a passage through it. Here the food is detained a while for better or for worse. Here it must be digested,—that is to say, changed, liquefied and assorted for assimilation;—or, failing that, it must lie here and rot, generating poisonous principles which enter the blood and set up a diseased action throughout the system. This is indigestion or dyspepsia,—the condition that exists when a person says: "My food does me no good."

Certainly not. How can it? The more he eats the more he suffers. The road is blocked. No use putting more grain in the hopper when the mill cannot grind. Here are some of Nature's protests; loss of appetite; distress after eating; heartburn; palpitation; flashes of heat and cold; the rising of nauseous acids and gases into the throat; furred tongue; dull and aching head; pains in the chest and back; weariness, fatigue and worry; loss of sleep; cold hands and feet; yellowish eyes and skin; weakness and trembling; constipation; failure of nervous force and courage, etc., etc. Out of this scorching blockade in the stomach may come any or a dozen local complaints,—a common form of pseudo-consumption among them. Yet you must eat or starve. Miserable dilemma.

Drastic measures won't do. Take a very little light nourishment first and immediately after it a dose of Shaker's Digestive Cordial, the only radically effective remedy for indigestion or dyspepsia,—prepared by the Shaker community of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y. It will relieve at once and cure quickly. Made from cultivated medicinal herbs and plants grown by the Shakers. Pleasant to the taste, painless and harmless.

Trial bottles ten cents. For sale by nearly all druggists.

COMPENSATION.

If Helen love me, she does so
After the cautious modern fashion,
And usages, like linkboys, go
To light the progress of her passion.

Say mine estate should dwindle; say
The breath of scandal fogged mine honor,
Helen would weep her love away
And bid me think no more upon her.

Say I fell ill or lame or blind,
The counsel of her friends would move her
Regretfully to prove unkind
And seek a less unfortunate lover.

But these things happen not—that is,
Not in such sort as frightens Helen—
Whereas her dear small prudencies
Make me a fenced demesne to dwell in.

—J. W. H. Crasland.

PUPPY LOVE.

I was 19, and pretty Lois Tanner was three years my junior. Sweet 16! Is there in all this world anything sweeter? There may be other sweet sixteen, but the comparative degree of the adjective in this connection has grown rusty from long disuse, and sweet 16 remains positive in kind and superlative in degree.

And Lois Tanner was 16.
From the first day of our meeting—we were the children of wealthy parents and were summering by the sea—some intangible influence, some inexplicable force seemed to draw us to each other and to run the lines of our lives parallel. For two years we had known each other, and one day—it was the third summer after our meeting—we sat on the rocks by the shore, and as the waves beat in rhythmic measures upon the silver sand stretching out at our feet I looked into her sweet blue eyes and knew that Lachesis, as she drew two threads from Clothio's spindle, was twisting them into one cord, forever indivisible.

In early youth how far the eyes, undimmed by years, can see into the future, and how keen is young love to decipher the handwriting on the wall!

"Lois," I said as we sat there in the fading twilight, "do you know how long we have known each other?"

"Does it seem long, Mr. Belden?" she replied, with a coy little smile.

"It has been two entire years, Miss Tanner," said I, falling into her mock formality of manner.

"And one learns a great deal in two years," she added.

"In one direction I have learned nothing, Lois," I said, with a quietness I did not feel.

"Why, Jack," she exclaimed, "I don't see how you could stand still."

"But I have," I insisted.

"How?" and her eyes looked her guilelessness.

"In loving you, Lois," I broke forth, "I couldn't love you any more in a thousand years than I loved you after our first meeting."

"Oh, Jack," she cried nervously, "what made you say that?"

"Why shouldn't I say it?" I answered, with a dogged resolve not to be put down by any woman's whim.

"Because, Jack," she said very earnestly, "papa has been saying all along that you and I were together too much, and the first thing the family knew there would be a case of puppy love to cure."

"Did your father say that?" I asked, with the anger showing in my face.

"He did, Jack, and he says—"

"Well, I don't want to hear what he says, or has said, or will say," I interrupted.

"If he says anything like that, he doesn't know what he is talking about and hasn't the most remote idea of what a man truly in love with the one woman in all the world for him feels."

"He ought to know something about it," Lois said hesitatingly. "You know, Jack, he has been married three times."

"That's just it," I growled. "He's grown callous. He thinks because I am not 100 years old I don't know my own heart and am irresponsible into the bargain. If it weren't for you, Lois," I added, ameliorating my wrath to a slight extent, "I wouldn't have a man like he is for my father-in-law under any circumstances."

"Papa isn't so awfully bad, Jack," she said in extenuation of the paternal weakness.

"I never thought he was either until you told me what you have," I admitted.

"But, Lois," and I grew hard again, "you must know that no father who regards the future happiness of his daughter can take the position he does and assume to dictate the course of two lives which in the nature of things must be independent of his."

"Papa says your papa said the same thing and agreed with him thoroughly," she replied, arguing as women do.

"Lois," I said in my firmest tone, "don't speak to me of your father again. If you do, I shall be tempted to do him some bodily injury."

The dear little woman laid her hand on my arm restrainingly and smiled with such irresistible sweetness that I even forgot the wound my own father had given me.

"Let it go, dear," she pleaded. "They have forgotten they were ever young."

The shadows were growing into a deeper purple, and the waves took on the mellow shades of the evening sky. The night wind, just rising, tossed Lois' golden hair about her smooth white forehead, and the pink of the sunset brought a rosy glow to her cheeks. I brushed my hand across my eyes and looked into her face.

"Do you remember what I said a few moments ago?" I asked, returning to the previous subject.

"What did you say?" she replied, trembling a little. I thought, for she surely could not have forgotten so soon.

"I said, darling—it was the first time I had ever called her that, and it almost frightened me—I said that there was one thing I had not learned in the last two years, and that was to love you better than I did when I first met you. Do you think I should have learned?"

"Perhaps, Jack," she blushed, "if you had, you would have gone ahead of me in the class."

"Oh, Lois," I began to say, and then stammered and grew red in the face. I could feel the blood fly along my neck, and my hands shook so I could not have put them out to her if she had asked me to. I had never spoken of love to a woman, and now my inexperience was painful to me. I knew that the brave man could win a triumph now, but I was not brave. On the contrary, I was a coward, an arrant coward, and in my fear I slipped down off the rock where we had been sitting and walked out upon the sand.

"Where are you going, Jack?" she called to me. "I don't like to be left here all alone. I'm sure Charlie Verder wouldn't treat me like that."

That was enough to set me wild. Verder was the one fellow I dreaded, and he hadn't known her six months either. I went back to the rock and stood at the foot of it, just near enough to touch the hem of her gown—such a sweet, white gown, with a bit of blue showing through it as the blue sky peeps in and out from the fleecy white clouds.

"Do you like him?" I asked sullenly.

"Not any more, I guess, than you like Mattie Swann," she retorted, with a perk of her nose and a shake of her fluffy hair.

"Then you like him pretty well," I said in worse humor than ever, and quite insistent upon nagging her all I could.

"Perhaps I do," she snapped, "and, if I do, I'm sure he is a very nice fellow."

"Not any nicer fellow than Mattie Swann is a girl," I put in as mean as I knew how.

"Well, I don't care," she said as she slipped off the rock and touched the sand as lightly as a thistle-down. "I'm going home, and when you get me to come away off down here in this lonesome place again at this time of day, or any other time, I think you'll know it."

Then she started off along the beach toward the row of cottages. It was a mile or more, and I thought I would keep within call, so I let her get some distance ahead of me. I poked along behind, gazing out to sea and wondering where all the beauty of the purple shadows had gone, and why it was the waves looked so cold and cruel and clammy. They were the same shadows, and the same waves, and there I was, and—but where was Lois? Fifty yards up the shore and hurrying along as if she were afraid of twilight ghosts or other strange inhabitants of the crepuscular air. I looked over my shoulder nervously, and all around, and shivered. What it was I don't know, but on the instant I called to her and went after my call as fast as I ever ran after a football.

"Lois, Lois!" I kept on calling, but she gave no heed. Her face was set away from me and she was going with it rapidly. But not so fast that I could not catch her in the next 50 yards or so.

"Oh, Mr. Belden," she said in a tone of pretty surprise as I came up panting by her side, "how you frightened me! I had no idea you were on the beach this evening."

Think of that, and still her father having the temerity to talk about puppy love! If that wasn't full grown mastiff sarcasm, I'd like to know what it was. But I was not to be thwarted by a woman's whim now, any more than I was in the beginning.

"Oh, Lois, Lois," I pleaded, though I puffed as I did so. "Don't talk like that. We are not children to let a trifle come between us and our love. You know I love you, and I know I love you. It was because I love you so that I grew wild with jealousy when you spoke of Verder. I don't care a rap of my finger for Mattie Swann, even if you do like Charlie Verder."

"Mr. Belden," she began very stiffly—"Call me Jack," I cried, with all my feeling come again. "Call me Jack, as you have always called me."

"Perhaps I'd better," she said coldly. "You have acted so childishly that Mr. seems scarcely an appropriate title."

"You shan't talk that way to me, Lois Tanner," I exclaimed as I stepped in front of her and blocked her path. "I have done wrong, and I apologize humbly for it. Now, as a lady, you cannot do otherwise than accept it."

"I accept the apology, and pray let that end the matter."

"No; it shall not. I insist upon your accepting the apology and the apologizer as well. I want you, Lois, and that's what I started to tell you down there on the rocks. Answer me now, with only the sea, and the sky, and the sweet twilight as witnesses."

"I was about to take her hand and more tenderly urge my claim to an answer, when she gave a slight scream and sprang to one side as if she had stepped on a mouse in the sand.

"Look there," she whispered, pointing to a couple seated on an old spar half in the sand, and who until then were not visible. I looked and saw Verder and Miss Swann, very close together and talking earnestly.

"Let them be witnesses also, if they will, darling," I said bravely, and this time I took her hand in mine.

But it was too dark for them to see, and when Lois and I walked by them in the dusky shadows of the later evening she had promised to be my wife, and though the great sun of the heavens had set over the world and the earth was full of shadows the greater sun of love had risen in our hearts, and they were filled with the light inextinguishable.

That was a dozen years ago, and today Lois is the proud and happy mother of three of the prettiest and sweetest children in the world, except four that I am the proud and happy father of.

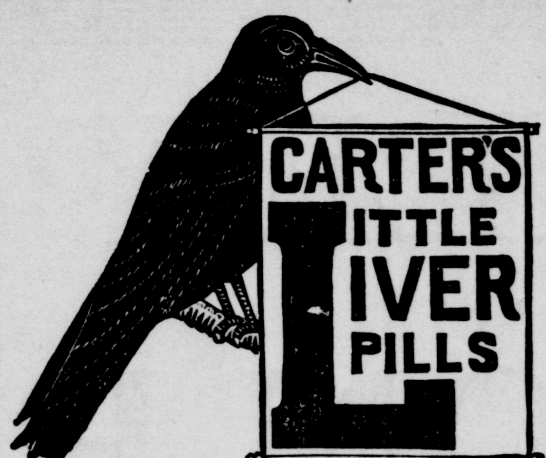

She is Mrs. Charles Verder, and Mrs. Belden was Miss Swann.—Detroit Free Press.

Why He Paused.

"I ought to have known better than to come here," said the departing drummer to the landlord. "I was told beforehand that it was a one horse town."

"Well, there's no use of kicking now," was the placid response.

"No; I just wanted to stop long enough to express my sympathy for the horse."—Washington Star.

Two New York Cloak houses with Chicago offices where they displayed their entire sample lines being through with their season and not wanting to pay express charges on the garments to New York, offered them to us at a liberal discount and always on the lookout for snaps, we were right there and made the deal with both for the entire lines. These garments were made up to show to the best merchants in the west, and were made particularly well, not one but what is right in every way. They were never handled on the road, but have only been shown in Chicago and are therefore in better shape than would be the case with those made up now in the mid-season rush. They are in stock today and comprise many exclusive styles not seen heretofore in ladies' and misses' jackets, in boucles, cheviots, kerseys; also plush and cloth capes and fur garments.

Don't buy a cloak of any kind until you look here where we positively guarantee to save you one-third.

Just Out of Reach.

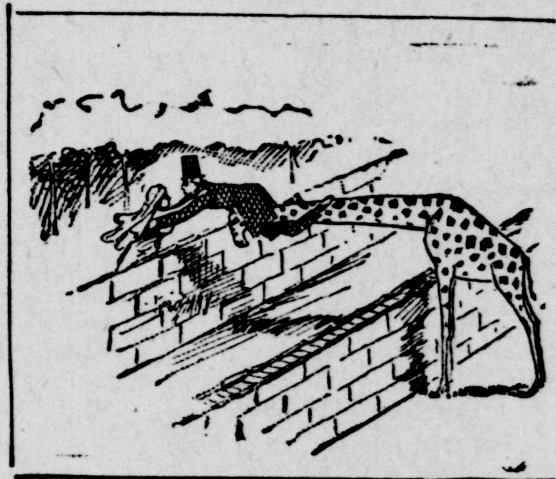

Some homely philosopher has said that "all the good things of life seem to be on the other side of a barb wire fence," meaning that the price was bigger than the pocket-book. That philosopher ought to come to our store.

$10.00 for one of the best Business Suits you ever saw...

wouldn't be out of reach would it? At least twenty different styles of Sacks, Frocks and Cutaway Suits will be placed in this sale. There are fine Black Tibets and Worsteds, handsome Cassimeres and Cheviots. No matter at what price they have sold during the season. The lots are broken now and we want them to go and go fast. We believe an all around price of $10 is right. Come in and see what you think. Every piece of goods that we sell, we guarantee and we guarantee the putting together of every seam. Some of these suits are as well made as you'll get in some stores at $18. Others are as good as you can buy in store at $15. Don't miss the opportunity.

We are Making a Long Reach...

for new trade. We're after those men who never believe what they see in advertisements. We're after those men who have been fooled by advertisers. We want want them them to learn more about us and our ways of doing business. We want them to have as much faith in us as hundreds of other didn't believe't folks now have.

We want you to know
That we are Commencing a sale of

SUITS AT $10!

which are just as good as you can get in other stores at $15 and you will find it exactly as we say. Come and see.
